WHAT CAN I DO WITH A MAJOR IN … NURSING

OCCUPATIONAL OVERVIEW:
According to the University Of New Mexico Graduate and Professional Degrees website (2013), “Nursing combines science and technology with the desire to help people. Nurses assess patient health problems and needs, develop and implement nursing care plans, and maintain medical records. Administer nursing care to ill, injured, convalescent, or disabled patients. Nurses may advise patients on health maintenance and disease prevention or provide case management. Licensing or registration required. Includes advance practice nurses such as: nurse practitioners, clinical nurse specialists, certified nurse midwives, and certified registered nurse anesthetists. Advanced practice nursing is practiced by RNs who have specialized formal, post-basic education and who function in highly autonomous and varied roles.”

EMPLOYMENT REQUIREMENTS:
According to the University Of New Mexico Graduate and Professional Degrees website (2013), “In all states, the District of Columbia, and U.S territories, students must graduate from an approved nursing program and pass a national licensing examination, known as the NCLEX-RN, in order to obtain a nursing license. Nurses may be licensed in more than one State, either by examination or by the endorsement of a licensed issued by another State. Nursing programs range from associate degrees to graduate level programs; higher degrees typically involve a broader and more complex scope of patient care. UNM offers a variety of degree options at the bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral levels.”

SUGGESTED STRATEGIES:
- Gain professional experience in your area of interest through involvement in internships, student employment, Co-ops, and/or volunteer opportunities.
- Consider working in multiple departments throughout campus to gain experience in areas you are interested in through work study or student employment.
- Make strong connections throughout campus organizations by networking and attending campus events and activities.
• Consider earning a second degree, minor, or pursuing additional coursework in a complementary field of study (e.g., business).
• Focus on developing “transferable skills” such as computer competency, written/verbal communication, and project management.
• Seek leadership opportunities on campus. Some positions may require an advanced degree.
• Students who are interested in graduate school should maintain a high undergraduate GPA and develop relationships with faculty and community leaders.
• Speak with mentors and faculty about career opportunities.
• Research government internship program and think about interning with a government agency to get a foot in the door, as well as building your resume.
• Make sure to research organizations’ values. Knowledge about organizations is critical, because it shows to employers that you’ve done your research and committed to work for them.
